

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL

(From the New Orleans Picayune, Oct. 11.)
DETAILS OF THE ATTACK ON SANTA ROSA ISLAND.
(By the Southern Line.)

The special correspondent of the Mobile Advertiser, writing last evening from Pensacola, sends the following details of the night attack of our forces on Santa Rosa Island:

"There were 1,100 men in the expedition to capture the fort. The force landed at 2 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, at 20 minutes past 4, the first gun was fired, and in 45 minutes all that remained of the fortifications had been erected there, was but one mass of smoking ruins. The capture of the fortification of their taxes, was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Tucker presented a resolution directing the Mayor to order an election on Saturday next, at 12 o'clock, for the election of a new member of the Legislature from the Second ward, in place of W. Campbell, resigned. Also to elect a Councilman from the Sixth ward in place of John Barber, resigned, which was adopted.

Mr. Carter presented a resolution expressing his regret at the loss to the city government by the resignation of A. M. Stou, Assistant City Attorney, as one most worthy, efficient and faithful in the discharge of his official duty, and wishing him success in his new position in the Union army, which was unanimously adopted.

Wilson's (The Southern) camp was the continual, completely surprised, were either killed or captured, and the whole regiment, with its chief, found themselves in the hands of the rebels. The scenes which occurred when this camp was invaded are described as being ludicrous indeed.

The gallant Colonel took to his heels, with nothing but a brief skirt before his garment to cover his nakedness, and ran away. He is well known as a man of character, of strong Union feelings, and of energy. Let all who love Virginia for what she has been had a helping hand.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, NOV. 1, 1861.

Sir: You are hereby authorized to raise a battalion of infantry or cavalry of loyal Virginians in Alexandria and the adjoining counties for three years, and to command the same, and to pay the expenses of their support. Whether infantry or cavalry, I desire you to report your company or battalion to Gen. McClellan, and to be placed in the service in a position of honor in the grand army of the United States in its march to Richmond. I desire to make your company a model for a regiment of the Army of the Eastern Confederacy as soon as the army in which it advances south.

I am yours, &c., J. C. CLAYTON.

Capt. J. C. CLAYTON, Washington, D. C.

A Jong and Dear Davis.—The National Intelligencer states that a number of Marylanders, seceding from the South, are now en route to the West, and that they will be received with open arms.

The Confederates a dozen or more were killed and many more wounded.

The latest news from Pensacola is that the men who were captured, though severely wounded, have been sent to the hospital at Pensacola.

The gallant Colonel took to his heels, nothing but a brief skirt before his garment to cover his nakedness, and ran away.

He is well known as a man of character, of strong Union feelings, and of energy. Let all who love Virginia for what she has been had a helping hand.

Yours truly, J. C. CLAYTON.

As General Davis has had the reputation of a joker, we might suppose his declaration was made in jest, but we are not so sure, though when we take into consideration the apparent foolishness of General Davis's reply to this touching appeal, which reply was made but tardily as follows:

"I am sorry to say, that with you and your people, My heart bleeds at the accounts which I receive of the brutal outrages of the Federal troops in the South. But I am restrained by principles of high political necessity from sending an army into Maryland, or invading or violating the sovereignty of her soil."

As General Davis has had the reputation of a joker, we might suppose his declaration was made in jest, but we are not so sure, though when we take into consideration the apparent foolishness of General Davis's reply to this touching appeal, which reply was made but tardily as follows:

"I am sorry to say, that with you and your people, My heart bleeds at the accounts which I receive of the brutal outrages of the Federal troops in the South. But I am restrained by principles of high political necessity from sending an army into Maryland, or invading or violating the sovereignty of her soil."

The BARDSTOWN CHRONICLE.—This is the title of a paper recently published by the members of the Kentucky Regiment, men from Kentucky and various columns we learn that on Saturday week there was a mass meeting in the town at which Col. Harlan and Col. Munroe made effective speeches, after which—

Ex Gov. Wickliffe, the President of the meeting, arose to make a few remarks before dismissing the meeting, and then in a speech of a few words, never more convincing arguments, why Kentuckians should shoulder their muskets and march forth to battle in defense of the glorious cause of the South, and the best Government the sun ever shone upon. His remarks nerves many hearts that had heretofore been dead, and he succeeded in inspiring the spirits of those who went to the field, or if there was a young man in the crowd that could not produce a single argument to sustain him, and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

We take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., he was sent to him, and Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are wide awake in their repartorial vocations:

Returned to "Old Uncle," negro presented himself to the Col. of the 10th Regt. last night to get employment as a cook. From descriptions already furnished the Colonel of one or two men, he was told that he must go to the colored gentlemen who had taken French leave of their masters, and, stepping outside the door, he called the name of a gentleman who was in the room, and said, "I have found the Col. of the 10th Regt." The negro being the property of John Mattingly, Esq., and pledged his last dollar to aid in putting down treason. A shout was sent up and made the earth tremble, and we are satisfied there are numbers of other wealthy individuals in the vicinity who will lend a helping hand in glorifying the cause. Push on the column, gallant Kentuckians.

The take the following items from the Chronicle, which show that the type of the paper are